

컷 생성 프롬프트 (모델: Seedance 2.5)

An 8-second clay stop-motion scene in 16:9. Handmade plasticine puppets on a miniature studio-apartment set, photographed frame by frame. Two consecutive shots in HEADY's small apartment kitchen at night, after a long day at work. This scene belongs to the same film as the earlier office scenes and must look exactly like them: same puppets, same clay, same lighting quality, same camera, same color grade.

REFERENCES

@Image1 is HEADY's character sheet.

@Image2 defines the clay material, surface texture, lighting quality, and color grade for the whole video. Match its look exactly. Ignore its subject, characters, setting, and composition.

@Image3 is THE CAT's character sheet.

Preserve each character's exact identity, proportions, sculpted hair or fur, accessories, and eye construction from their own sheet in every shot. Never render sheet layouts, labels, or cream backgrounds.

@Image1, @Image2, and @Image3 are references only. No shot starts from a reference image, and no shot cuts to a reference image.

CAST

HEADY

Appearance: @Image1. About three heads tall, with a smooth, rounded, toy-like lavender clay body and a soft, slightly squarish head. Messy plum hair made of thick, twisted, rope-like clay strands, with a yellow pencil tucked into it. A small round lavender clay nose. Two small white front teeth. An orange crossbody satchel; he has just come home and still wears it.

HEADY's eyes: real physical craft googly eyes made of plastic. Each eye is a round white backing disk with a thin pale rim, covered by a shallow transparent plastic dome, with a separate flat black pupil disk loose inside. The domes catch small, bright specular highlights and clearly read as glossy plastic, not clay. The pupils can shift slightly inside the domes, like real googly eyes.

HEADY's glasses: round orange clay frames with no lenses, just empty openings. The glossy plastic eye domes sit behind the empty frames and stay clearly distinct from them.

Mood: tired after an ordinary long workday, but not sad or gloomy. A little sleepy and dazed, still innocent and slightly dopey.

THE CAT

Appearance: @Image3. A plump orange tabby cat sculpted from clay, with the exact same plastic googly-eye construction as HEADY. If anything in this prompt differs from @Image3, follow @Image3.

Mood: calm and expressionless, with a blank, innocent stare.

No other characters.

THE SET — HEADY'S APARTMENT

A small one-room studio apartment of a young office worker, built entirely as a handmade clay miniature set by the same model makers as the office set. Lived-in, slightly cluttered, a little lonely, but cozy.

The kitchenette runs along one wall: a compact single-burner gas stove on the left, a small sink in the middle, and a short stretch of counter on the right. Above it, an open shelf with mismatched mugs, a rice cooker, and a stack of instant-noodle cups. A mini fridge beside the counter, covered with magnets, receipts, and a few architecture sketches. A dish rack with one plate and one cup.

Beyond the kitchenette: a narrow bed with rumpled blankets, a small desk with a desk lamp and rolled drawings, a folding drying rack with a few shirts hanging, and a window with half-open blinds showing a deep-blue night and the lit windows of neighboring apartment buildings.

Lighting: the same warm, neutral, diffused lighting quality as the office scenes, with the same brightness and color grade. Night is shown only through the window. The room itself is softly and evenly lit by a warm under-cabinet light and the desk lamp, with gentle fill and soft shadows.

PRACTICAL EFFECTS

Every effect is made the way a real stop-motion crew would make it, never as realistic CGI:

The gas flame is a small ring of translucent blue cellophane and clay petals.

The steam is soft wisps of pulled cotton wool.

The boiling water is a glossy clear resin surface with small clear resin beads for bubbles.

The linguine jar is clear cast resin.

FIXED BLOCKING

HEADY stands squarely in front of the stove. His feet and body face the stove and the kitchen wall. He does not walk away or change his standing spot.

THE CAT sits on the counter to the right of the stove, at HEADY's right side.

Directly in front of THE CAT, near the front edge of the counter, stands the clear resin jar filled with dry linguine standing upright, with a round lid. The linguine is pale golden clay, made of thin, flat strands.

In Shot 2, HEADY is on image left and THE CAT is on image right.

HEADY's satchel strap stays on the same shoulder, and his hair pencil stays in his hair.

CONTINUITY LEDGER

Each shot begins in exactly the state the previous shot ended in. Nothing resets, jumps, or swaps between shots.

Start of Shot 1: burner off, pot of still water on the burner. HEADY is just outside the frame, in front of the stove.

Start of Shot 2: burner lit, water boiling. HEADY's hand is just pulling back from the stove knob after lighting it. He faces the stove. THE CAT sits on the counter at his right with the jar in front of it.

End of Shot 2: HEADY stands in front of the stove, body facing it, watching the pot after a small yawn. THE CAT sits on the counter at his right with the jar upright in front of it.

FLOW AND PACING

Shot 1 — perfectly symmetrical top-down view of the stove, static camera:

Looking straight down at the single-burner gas stove. The composition is perfectly centered and bilaterally symmetrical: one round burner sits exactly in the center of the frame, with one small round pot of water placed exactly on top of it. The edges of the stove top run perfectly parallel to the frame edges, with equal margins on the left and right. Nothing else is in frame; HEADY's hand stays outside the frame.

The burner clicks twice, then the cellophane flame ring lights around the pot. After a moment, small resin bubbles rise in the water, and it comes to a gentle boil with cotton-wool wisps of steam rising straight up.

Shot 2 — full shot of HEADY and THE CAT with a blurred foreground object:

A full shot from inside the room, looking toward the kitchenette at a slight angle. HEADY stands in front of the stove on image left, seen head to toe in three-quarter profile, his body facing the stove. The shot begins as his hand pulls back from the stove knob he has just turned, and he settles into watching the steaming pot. He looks pleasantly worn out rather than miserable: shoulders relaxed and a little loose, his clay eyelids resting slightly low over the tops of his plastic eye domes, a faint, sleepy, absent-minded look. He gives a small yawn. THE CAT sits on the counter on image right, at HEADY's right side, with the linguine jar directly in front of it.

For cinematic depth, a shirt hanging on the folding drying rack fills the near foreground on image left, very close to the camera and softly out of focus, partially framing the shot. The kitchenette sits in the sharp middle ground, and the window glows faintly in the background.

AUDIO

No music.

Shot 1: two clicks of the gas igniter, a soft whoosh of flame, then water starting to bubble.

Shot 2: a low simmer, distant city ambience through the window, and a small, sleepy yawn from HEADY.

LOOK — MATCH THE EARLIER OFFICE SCENES

The entire video must look like photographed frames from a real handcrafted clay stop-motion miniature set, not polished CGI, matching @Image2.

Strong handmade clay tactility, clearly visible on characters, furniture, walls, floor, and props: strong fingerprint ridges, thumb-pressed dents, finger pressure marks, sculpting-tool grooves, small scrape marks, joined clay seams, compressed edges, slight smearing, uneven hand-shaped surfaces, tiny lumps, soft deformation, imperfect geometry. Do not stylize the clay too cleanly.

Lighting: warm neutral diffused light, gentle fill, soft shadows, moderate contrast, creamy highlights.

Color palette: cream beige, earthy brown, muted lavender, muted plum, soft ochre, muted green, restrained saturation, with the orange of the cat and the satchel kept soft and muted.

Camera: cinematic miniature photography with natural lens perspective, selective depth of field, soft optical falloff, realistic miniature-scale lighting, and subtle macro-photography characteristics.

Motion: subtle frame-by-frame puppet acting and smooth camera movement.

Mood: cozy, innocent, slightly dopey, quietly funny, empathetic, understated.

No polished CGI, no glossy 3D-render look, no perfectly smooth clay, no realistic water, fire, steam, or glass simulation, no extra characters, no extra limbs, no reference-sheet layouts, no captions, no speech bubbles, no logos, and no watermarks.
