

컷 생성 프롬프트 (모델: Seedance 2.5)

A 7-second clay stop-motion scene in 16:9. Handmade plasticine puppets on the same miniature studio-apartment set, photographed frame by frame. Two consecutive shots continue directly after @Video1.

REFERENCES

@Video1 is the preceding scene. It ends with HEADY standing at the stove, watching the steaming pot after a small yawn, while THE CAT sits on the counter at his right with the linguine jar in front of it. Continue directly from that moment. Keep the set, lighting, color grade, character positions, and props exactly as in @Video1.

@Image1 is HEADY's character sheet.

@Image2 defines the clay material, surface texture, lighting quality, and color grade. Match its look exactly. Ignore its subject, characters, setting, and composition.

@Image3 is THE CAT's character sheet.

Preserve each character's exact identity, proportions, sculpted hair or fur, accessories, and eye construction from their own sheet in every shot. Never render sheet layouts, labels, or cream backgrounds.

@Image1, @Image2, and @Image3 are references only. No shot starts from a reference image, and no shot cuts to a reference image.

CAST

HEADY

Appearance: @Image1, exactly as in @Video1. Lavender clay body, messy plum hair made of thick, twisted, rope-like clay strands with a yellow pencil tucked in, a small round nose, two small white front teeth, and an orange crossbody satchel.

HEADY's eyes: real physical craft googly eyes made of plastic. Each eye is a round white backing disk with a thin pale rim, covered by a shallow transparent plastic dome, with a separate flat black pupil disk loose inside. The domes catch small, bright specular highlights and clearly read as glossy plastic, not clay.

HEADY's glasses: round orange clay frames with no lenses. The glossy plastic eye domes sit behind the empty frames and stay clearly distinct from them.

Mood: tired but not gloomy. Sleepy, dazed, innocent, slightly dopey.

THE CAT

Appearance: @Image3, exactly as in @Video1. A plump orange tabby clay cat with the same plastic googly-eye construction as HEADY.

Mood: calm and expressionless, with a blank, innocent stare.

No other characters.

THE SET

The same apartment kitchen as @Video1: the single-burner stove on the left with the pot still simmering, a small sink in the middle, and the counter on the right where THE CAT sits. The same warm, neutral, diffused lighting as @Video1, with night shown only through the window.

The steam is soft wisps of pulled cotton wool. The linguine jar is clear cast resin.

FIXED BLOCKING

HEADY stands squarely in front of the stove. His feet and body face the stove. Only his head, eyes, and shoulders turn.

THE CAT sits on the counter to the right of the stove, at HEADY's right side, and never leaves the counter.

Directly in front of THE CAT, near the front edge of the counter, stands the clear resin jar filled with dry, flat, pale golden clay linguine, with a round lid.

In both shots, HEADY is on image left and THE CAT is on image right.

When the jar falls, it does not shatter. The lid pops off, the jar rolls a short way, and the linguine spills and scatters across the floor at HEADY's right side. Every strand remains a whole, flat strand of dry linguine.

CONTINUITY LEDGER

Each shot begins in exactly the state the previous shot ended in. Nothing resets, jumps, or swaps between shots.

Start of Shot 3a: exactly the end of @Video1. HEADY faces the stove, hands at his sides. THE CAT and the jar are unchanged.

Start of Shot 3b: HEADY's body still faces the stove, his head now turned to his right toward THE CAT. THE CAT stares back at him.

Start of Shot 4: same positions. Their eyes are still locked. The jar is still upright at the counter edge in front of THE CAT.

End of Shot 4: the jar lies on the floor at HEADY's right side, the lid beside it, the linguine scattered across the floor. THE CAT is in the same spot on the counter.

FLOW AND PACING

Shot 3a — over HEADY's shoulder onto THE CAT, eye level:

The back of HEADY's right shoulder and the edge of his plum hair and orange glasses frame fill the soft-focus foreground on image left. THE CAT sits on the counter on image right, in sharp focus, facing the camera, with the linguine jar in front of it. Keeping his body toward the stove, HEADY slowly turns his head to his right toward THE CAT. THE CAT is already staring straight at him.

Shot 3b — reverse, over THE CAT's back onto HEADY, eye level:

THE CAT's round orange back and one ear fill the soft-focus foreground on image right. HEADY stands on image left, in sharp focus, his body still facing the stove and his head turned toward the camera. His glossy plastic googly eyes, behind the empty orange frames, meet THE CAT's gaze with mild, innocent curiosity, as if wondering what it wants. His pupils settle and hold still. They hold each other's eyes in a silent beat. Neither moves.

Shot 4 — close-up on THE CAT and the jar at the counter edge:

Keeping its blank stare on HEADY, THE CAT raises one paw and taps the jar. Tap. A pause. Tap again. The jar inches toward the front edge. One last tap, and it tips over the edge and drops out of frame toward the floor at HEADY's right side. It hits the floor, the lid pops off, the jar rolls a short way, and the linguine bursts out and scatters across the floor.

AUDIO

No music.

Shots 3a and 3b: near silence over the simmer continuing from @Video1.

Shot 4: two soft taps of a paw on the jar, the jar scraping across the counter, a hollow thud on the floor, the lid popping off, and a dry clatter of linguine spilling and skittering.

LOOK — MATCH @Video1 AND THE EARLIER OFFICE SCENES

The entire video must look like photographed frames from a real handcrafted clay stop-motion miniature set, not polished CGI, matching @Video1 and @Image2.

Strong handmade clay tactility, clearly visible on characters, furniture, walls, floor, and props: strong fingerprint ridges, thumb-pressed dents, finger pressure marks, sculpting-tool grooves, small scrape marks, joined clay seams, compressed edges, slight smearing, uneven hand-shaped surfaces, tiny lumps, soft deformation, imperfect geometry. Do not stylize the clay too cleanly.

Lighting: warm neutral diffused light, gentle fill, soft shadows, moderate contrast, creamy highlights.

Color palette: cream beige, earthy brown, muted lavender, muted plum, soft ochre, muted green, restrained saturation, with the orange of the cat and the satchel kept soft and muted.

Camera: cinematic miniature photography with natural lens perspective, selective depth of field, soft optical falloff, realistic miniature-scale lighting, and subtle macro-photography characteristics.

Motion: subtle frame-by-frame puppet acting and smooth camera movement.

Mood: cozy, innocent, slightly dopey, quietly funny, empathetic, understated.

No polished CGI, no glossy 3D-render look, no perfectly smooth clay, no realistic glass simulation, no extra characters, no extra limbs, no reference-sheet layouts, no captions, no speech bubbles, no logos, and no watermarks.
